PHILADELPHIA; Aug. 3.—A terrific cyclone, sweeping up the Delaware river this afternoon, struck this city near G reenwich point, demolishing a portion of the works of the Pennsylvania Salt Manufacturing Company, and injuring several employes.

It is a succeeded by any sweeping disaster which should fall upon the cattlemen. They set forth that they believed they were engaging in legitimate business enterprises when they invested their money, and felt that they were entitled to such consideration as would be accorded to other business interests.

They discussed their Manufacturing Company, and injuring several employes. It then took a course across the river, wrecking the river steamboat Major Reybold and the river steamboat Major Reybold and the ferry boat Peerless. The storm blew the pilot, Emory Townsend, and Capt. Eugene Reybold, of the steamboat Rey-bold, into the river, drowning the former and painfully injuring the captain. The storm then passed over to the Jersey side, storm then passed over to the Jersey side, striking John Dialogue's shipyards below Kaighn's point and destroying the buildings of the establishment. It then took a course along the New Jersey river front, demolishing all the buildings in its path up to Bridge avenue, Camden. At this point the cyclone took an easterly course, and passed over to that part of the twenty- fifth ward of Philadelphia. Hundreds of families were rendered homeless, and one victim, Charles Daiomeless, and one victim, Charles Dai

LARGEMENT OF TIME.

The Delegation to Call on the President To-Day-What Score-force. The delegation, before calling on the President, will formulate a memorial, setting forth the injustice of the order, showing conclusively that it will be impossible for them to remove the cattle in the time allowed. It is understood that they will ask that the time be extended until next spring, or at least to ninery days. While it will inconvenience them to move in the latter period they can, they say, sell the cattle, which will be ready for the market by that time. INSPECTOR AUMSTRONG, Gen. Armstrong, who has been invetigating the cattle question in the Indian territory, returned yesterday, and had a talk with the President and Secretary Lamar. He will remain for some days, and will probably submit his views to the officials. He says that he knows of no proposed change, and supposes that the order will be carried out.

There is a belief, based on some direct intelligence from the President, existing among those interested that the Presi-dent will reconsider his order, and will grant an extension of time, probably for ninety days.

It is understood on the other hand that a proper construction of the President's order by the military would give the cat-tlemen ample time to leave, the obvious intention to comply conveyed in the vigorous commencement of the removal being conceded to be all that could be one under a decree of court is considered in contempt if the ered in contempt if shown to be making every reasonable effort to comply.

A CALL ON SECRETARY LANAR. A delegation called upon the Secre-tary of the Interior yesterday afternoon and were accorded an interview. They represented that compliance with the terms of the President's proclamation, ordering the summary removal of their cattle from the reservations, would be ruinous to their interests. The quarantine regulations of Kansas and Colorado against Texas cattle directly affected one-quarter of their entire possessions, and, inasmuch as the Texas cattle had, and, inasmuch as the Texas cattle had, despite all precautions, run with the others, the regulations might operate against the whole. These there are place to which these cattle could be driven, except southward, into Texas, and Texas was already stocked to its utmost capacity. The quarantine regulations of Kansas and Colorado would closed on the day of the Grant obsequies at that place.

SPORTING POINTS.

WHITEWASH SPREAD OVER THE NEWARKS.

The Batting and Fielding Averages of the Nationals-Games Played Abroad - Racing Yesterday - To-Day's Entries at Long Branch. The Nationals won their eighth conecutive victory yesterday, and easily defeated the Newarks in a seven-innings game that was noteworthy for some fine fielding work on the part of both clubs, and safe and hard hitting by the Nationals. Emslie, late pitcher of the Balimore and Athletic clubs, was put in the box to pitch for the visitors, and his delivery seemed to be just what the Nationals liked, as they batted his curves with case.

The home nine won the toss, and sent their opponents to the field. Baker hit an easy fly to Smith at short, but that artist very accommodatingly muffed it and Baker reached first, went to secand on a wild pitch, to third on a passed ball, and came home on Hoover's base hit. Hoover stole second, and ran to third on Powell's out to Coogan in right field. Burch made a single and Hoover scored. Trott then hit the ball to right field for two bases. Burch going to third on the same hit, and shortly after came home on a passed ball. Knowles went out on a foul fly to Lynch. White made a hit, but both he and Trott were left on bases, as Gladmon hit to short and was retired at first. The Nationals scored another run in the fifth inning by Hoover making a hit for a base, stealing second, going to third on a wild pitch, and home on Burch's long sacrifice fly hit to left

The visitors were unable to get a man round the bases, although they had men on second and third twice. Barr's pitch-ing was too much for the lads from New Jersey, and so admirable was the sup-port given him by Trott and the rest of the nine that only two hits were made off of his ritching.

White, Baker, and Trott, for the home club, led the fielding, while for the visitors, Schoenick did himself proud by his one handed catch of a hot liner from White's bat in the third inning. Walker and Birchall also deserve men-tion for some fine fielding done by them. The special feature of the game, how-ever, was Hoover's batting, as he made four safe hits out of as many times at the but. Jones, the Newark's second baseman, burt his foot in the fourth inning and had to retire from the game. Owing to the rain storm that came up at the ending of the seventh inning game was called, and spectators and players alike made hasty strides for home.

To-day the same two clubs will play at the usual hour and as this is the last championship game prior to the Nation-al's trip to Norfolk and Richmond, there will no doubt be a good attendance O'Day and Cook will be the home but will be the Newark's pitcher, and Grady Yesterday's score follows:

The bid offered by Mr. Brown, of this city, was the lowest but was, rejected, as ex Secretary Chandler testified, by his order to Gen. Smith, because it was a nominal one—that is at figures too low to assure such articles as wanted. The prosecution charged that the paymaster general favored Brown by accepting such bids as he could make profit on and rejection of the court in the premises, reserving to himself all rights he may have under the law for other and further adjudication.

HE HOLDS THAT THE COAST SURVEY HAS COST TWICK AS MUCH AS IT OUGHT, "It is no pleasant undertaking," said Auditor J. Q. Chenowith, of the treasury, last evening, "to be instrumental in prosecuting an investigation like that now being made in the coast and geodetic survey. It is not always popular to insurvey. It is not always popular to in-vestigate influential and scientific people. I have already received a batch of anonymous letters showing the odium with which my course is regarded. This branch of the service showed This branch of the service showed upon a first inspection irregularities which are glaring, and it was like unraveling a ball of twine—when it was started it kept coming out. Of course it is necessary to carry on this important branch of our government service, but one-half of the money expended in this survey has been wasted. It may have been carried on according to scientific principles, but it surely was not managed on business principles. The board now considering the matter is composed of fair minded men, and we may expect, in their report, to have a just summing up of the case. The report, I expect, will be ready by the last part of this week.

"Will any of those implicated in the charges be amenable to the law?" asked the reporter.

"That I cannot tell until the report is received. I have not considered that."

SOUTHERN DEBT.

AN ATTEMPT TO WIPE OUT THE WAR TAX.

Controller Durham Appears in Court as a Friendly Defendant to a Mandamus Case by Mississippi to Force Payment of a

An amicable proceeding in mandamus, avolving a very nice and important point, took place yesterday before Jus-ice Merrick, sitting in chambers. Mr. Martin F. Morris, as solicitor and in behalf of the state of Mississippi, applied for a mandamus on Hon, Milton J. Dur-ham, first comptroller of the treasury, to ham, first compitoller of the treasury, to compel the payment to the state of $5,508.50 for the sale of public lands within the state and which the commissioner of public lands las reported as due the state. The auditor's office concedes the claim not only to be due from the government, but find on the books of the department what purports to be an indubtedness of the state to the United States, and they propose, as far as it may go, to set off one against the other under the requirements of the law. The alleged indebtedness consists of a land tax imposed by act of Congress of 1861, and has not been paid. This act imposed a tax on the land within the state and not the state itself, and, therefore, and not the state itself, and, therefore, it is claimed that there was no indebted-ness from the state as such.

The earry on the bolks of the treasury is claimed to be for a avenience, so as cover the geographical limits within the state subject to tax, and nothing more.

Justice Merrick, after reading the papers and by consent, issued a rule re-turnable forthwith.

Comptroller Durham was present and Comptroller Durham was present and submitted his answer. He admitted that all the statements in the petition were correct, except the respondent's refusal to draw a warrant for the amount claimed. Upon examining the records of his office the comptroller states that he finds what purports to be a statement of account between the United States and the state of Mississippi, which is a certificate of the fifth auditor that he has adjusted the account between them, and adjusted the account between them, and finds that the sum of $413,081.67 is due from the state to the United States, as direct tax imposed under act of Congress of Aug. 5, 1861. The comptroller says that the state of Mississippi, it seems, never accepted or assumed, or in any manner made itself responsible for, the direct tax imposed upon the property within its territorial limits by the act, and on account of which the allegad in and on account of which the alleged indebtedness was stated; and, further, that In the Smith court-martial yesterday there has been no legislation by Congress morning W. B. Moses, of this city, was called as a witness for the defense. He testified that mattresses with covers, such as the Navy Department advertised for in October, 1882, were worth $7.50 apiece. Mr. Maury cross-examined the witness and produced a tabulated statement of all the proposals submitted at the statement of the bidders hangede as high as $7 for mattresses in their bids.

This was objected to by Mr. Chandler, and the evidence based on the tabulated statement was ruled out by the court.

In an interview with reference to the South Pennsylvania railroad matters lie. Hostetter is quoted as having said. I was disappointed at the result of our first meeting with Mr. Twombly. I did not expect that Mr. Vanierbillt would take the action he did. We have not been sold out yet, and further, we do not intend to be. Mr. Freek has no intention of joining Mr. Vanderbilt in the sale. I think Carnegie and Gowen have said that they will not sell. It is not at all unlikely that Mr. Vanderbilt may reconsider his offer to the Pennsylvania, be content with the enormous profit he has made out of the advance in stocks, and wo on to build the read. If all the persons interested were in harmony I am sure he would.

persons interested were in harmony I am sure he would.

In Carroll county, Md., on the line of the Western Maryland, several bridges between Westernister and I sion bridge were went away by the recept heavy rains, and all railroad travel between those points suspended. Besides there are several washouts, and several days will be required before regular travel can be resumed. On the Hanover Branch railroad one bridge has been thrown down, and a passenger train narrowly escaped. As the last car of the Irain passed over, the bridge fell, and the ties were only supported by the rails.

The answer of the Philadelphia and Reading railroad Company to the position of the Central Railroad of New Jersey for the annulment of the lease between the two roads was filed yesterday in the 1 cited States circuit court at Philadelphia. It alleges, among other things, that the Reading has already braid more than the terms of lease called for, and advances reasons why the agreement should be maintained.
